RICHARDSON, Texas (December 4, 2017) — Service King Collision Repair Centers®, one of the nation's fastest-growing and most trusted brands in high-quality collision repair service, today announced the company is expanding its service in the Colorado Springs area. The announcement comes as the organization closed on terms to acquire Perkins Paint and Collision – a division of Perkins Motors.

The deal officially closed Friday, Dec. 1, with operations of Perkins Paint and Collision, located at 2025 Sheldon Ave. in Colorado Springs, transitioning to Service King immediately. The 30,000 square foot facility provides Service King the capacity to repair up to 300 vehicles per month in addition to its three existing collision repair centers in the market.

"This is another exciting move for the Service King family as we continue our mission of serving as the collision repair operator of choice for our customers and business partners," said Clayton Geisendorff, Service King Market Director. "As part of that growth strategy, Service King looks to premier teams for partnership opportunities. Perkins Paint and Collision, with its history of quality service to the community, certainly fit that mold. David Perkins and his team have built a best-in-class reputation and we look forward to continuing that tradition in the future as one Service King family."

With the deal, Service King continues its quick growth across the Colorado Springs area after opening its first location in the market in May. Today, the company operates four conveniently located Colorado Springs locations and an overall network of 332 repair centers in 24 states across the U.S.

Service King provides all customers a written lifetime warranty on all repair work valid at any of its locations.

"Perkins Motors has been committed to providing its customers with outstanding vehicle choices and market leading customer service since 1945," said David Perkins, Perkins Motors President. "With this decision to sell our body shop to national service leader Service King, our team will now have the ability to further focus on what we have done best since my grandfather founded the organization; providing people in the Pikes Peak Region with the best options in cars, trucks, SUVs and service in the region. We are excited about today's announcement and look forward to leveraging our additional bandwidth to focus on our core business."
